

Show and Tell

Presenting Jon Weiss' Show & Tell at the June 23, 2022 Meeting

This was a product review for a ITLA (itlascalmodels.com), a Canadian kit manufacturer. They sell kits in N, HO, and O scale and all are detail wooden kits with a strong brick facade emphasis. These kits are more like a puzzle as their unique design allows one to put them together in various formats. The kits can become flats, background, and/or typical 4-sided structures. You can also buy extensions to gain additional height.

Since this is my first brick building, I watched several videos on how to finish it. Using a sponge, I dabbed 1 color first then using the same sponge, dabbed another color until all 4 selected colors were applied (no drying between colors or priming the structure).

Check out their website and videos (they quote prices in USD and ship to the states)
